

CONTENTS

	Page No.
Editor's Note Sunanda Mukherjee	i-iii
Ecology and Spirituality in Rabindranath Tagore and Mahatma Gandhi: A Contemporary Perspective Rubaiya Nasrin	1-12
(Re-)Cognizing Nature's Lived Ontologies: Tagore's Nisargaśṛṅgāra Akhar Bandopadhyay	13-39
The Soul where Nature Lives, the Mind where Nature Breathes: A Study of Tagore's "Streer Patra" Ritu Sarkar	40-50
Traditional Culinary Practices and Ecological Awareness in the Gandhian Tradition Catharinal Silvia	51-63
Whispers of the Earth: Ecological Sensibility in Tagore's 'The Homecoming and 'Subha' Akansha Pandey	64-76
Ecological Redemption: Revisiting Tagore's Critique of Mechanistic Modernity in the Age of Climate Crisis Swasthika	77-88
The earth has enough resources for our needs but not for our greed": Man-Nature Relationship in Gandhi's Ecological Thoughts Laki Molla	89-105
Letters As Living Trees: Reading Tagore's Correspondence Through the Lens of Ecological Aesthetics Abbas Akbar Khan	106-115
Green Visions: Postcolonial Ecofeminism through the Writings of Tagore and Shiva Surabhi Jha	116-128
Ecologies of Wonder: Nature, Childhood, and Resistance in Rabindranath Tagore's Literature for Children Debasmita Das	129-140
Echoes of the Earth: Re-examining Gandhi's Ecological Ethos in the Era of Climate Crisis Rima Chakraborty	141-158
Rethinking Ecology: Gandhi, Duties, and Limits of Rights-Based Ethics Priyanshu Prajjwal and Anupam Kumar	159-171
Notes on Contributors	172-174